

Do you know ...

What your child's school is teaching?

Offensive and age-inappropriate materials and ideas that conflict with your values and beliefs? Condom demonstrations? Same-sex unions as marriage?

What the Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S. (SIECUS) wants your child to know, beginning in kindergarten? (see SIECUS Guidelines on back)

That the Health Care law funds over $55 million for "comprehensive" sex ed?

Approved programs emphasize condom-use skills. The President's Teen Pregnancy Prevention Initiative funds $114 million.

About the sex education-abortion connection?

That your child can ...

- Leave school without your knowledge?
- Get birth control confidentially?
- Be referred for abortion without your knowledge or consent?
- Get a judge's approval for an abortion without your knowledge or consent?

About Planned Parenthood's website for teens? Says lesbian, gay, bisexual, and straight sexual orientations "are perfectly normal." Kids are invited "behind the fig leaf" to view explicit drawings of genitalia, an erection, and a "how-to" animated video on using a condom. Planned Parenthood also promotes It's Perfectly Normal, a book for children as young as nine with explicit cartoon-like drawings, e.g., a young boy masturbating, a couple engaged in sex, and nude people of all ages, races, and sizes.

Protect your children

Understand why you should exempt your children from sex education.

Know what your child's school is teaching and what materials the school nurse and counselor have for students. Learn about your right to view materials and how to do a freedom of information request.

Learn how Texas law protects parental rights and how to exercise your rights. You have a right to opt-out your child from objectionable materials.

Protect your child from being exposed to offensive instruction that conflicts with your values. Topics can be introduced into any class. Use our "School Notification" form to withhold your consent from instruction to which you object.

Know about your district's School Health Advisory Committee. Texas law requires every district to have one and an approval process for sex education materials.

Know how to file a complaint. Texas law requires every district to have a complaint procedure. Learn how it works and about important deadlines.

Know about the "abstinence education law" and if your school is complying. Texas requires schools to teach abstinence from pre-marital sexual activity as the expected behavior. True abstinence education works; counterfeit abstinence education gives youth a harmful mixed message.

Ask your school board to pass policies to protect your children.

Know about resources to help you.

Our experienced team is available for presentations and to provide materials to help protect your children.

Linda Schlueter, President

An attorney, author, and former professor of law at St. Mary's University, Linda has conducted school board and parental rights training. She authored the only amicus brief of 50 filed that was cited by the U.S. Supreme Court in the "partial-birth abortion" case (Gonzales v. Carhart).

Anne Newman, Director Policy and Communications

Co-author of Healthy Sex Education in Your Schools published by Focus on the Family, Anne has over 20 years experience in the policy and legislative arenas and assisting parents in exercising their rights. She also wrote The Sex Pushers: Your Children the Target.

Carol Everett, Director The Heidi Group

Trained by the abortion industry, Carol knows firsthand how young girls are lured into early sexual activity and provided low-dose birth control that will almost assure pregnancy. After a life-changing event, she left and now works in the pro-life arena.

SIECUS K-12 Guidelines for Comprehensive Sex Education

The Sex Information and Education Council's Guidelines have six "essential" learning areas – Human Development, Relationships, Personal Skills, Sexual Behavior, Sexual Health, and Society and Culture – with "specific information young people need to learn," including the following:

Ages 5 to 8: Explains reproductive organs, describes intercourse, masturbation, homosexuality, different kinds of families, living together unmarried, and HIV transmission.

Ages 9 to 12: Ovulation, menstruation, "wet dreams," ejaculation, contraception, sexual orientation, bisexuality, and STD transmission during vaginal, oral, or anal intercourse. States that "Masturbation is often the first way a person experiences sexual pleasure," and "A legal abortion is very safe."

Ages 12 to 15: Pleasure of sexual organs, contraception, size and shape of penises, breasts, and vulvas, condoms, dental dams (for oral sex), and transgender (e.g., "drag king," "drag queen," "crossdresser," "genderqueer," "shapeshifter," "bigendered").

 Planned Parenthood has distributed 6" rulers to youth emblazoned with "Does Size Matter?"

Ages 15 to 18: "Most women need some clitoral stimulation to reach orgasm." Using "erotic photographs, movies, art, literature, or the Internet to enhance ... sexual fantasies when alone or with a partner." Sexual dysfunctions, emergency contraception, pregnancy options for same gender couples, and kinds of abortions.
